

WHAT TO DO NOW

Document the quality of your life as you are experiencing it now, before the Antelope Ridge Wind Facility is built and on line.

- Videotape your views and the natural sounds and noise levels that are normal for your area. Do this at various times of the day and season. Show how the sunlight affects the rooms in your house at dusk and dawn. Use a camera that will show the date and time of recording.
- Place a sound activated tape recorder outside your home to document traffic before and after the wind facility is built. Document the date and time on the recording.
- If you have a motion/game camera, use it to record traffic outside your home. Document the date and time on the recording.
- Document your TV, cordless phone and cell reception.
- If your water source is from a well, have it tested for quality and quantity by a reputable source.
- If you live in the city limits, request a copy of the most current water report from city hall.
- Have your property assessed pre-development of the wind facility by a licensed and state-certified appraiser. If numerous neighbors request appraisals, a discounted fee may be negotiated. The appraiser's testimony in court may be useful post-development.
- Take pictures of the road conditions in the community prior to the construction of the wind facility. With the high use of heavy-duty construction equipment traveling over county/city roads, damage is inevitable.
- If your business is dependent on sightseers, hunters, campers, etc., document average daily customers.
- Document the birds and wildlife that frequent the area with a camera and/or video that will imprint the date and time.
- Document behavioral and/or physical habits of your pets and farm animals with a camera and/or video that will imprint the date and time.
- Farmers and landowners document amount and cost of noxious weed control used pre-development of the wind facility.
- Request an affidavit from your physician of any pre-existing conditions that you or other family members suffer from and that could be worsened by the impacts of the ARWF. (See Health Affidavit attached.)
